The materials assigned to prepare for each class were informative and effective to promote student learning and participation. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	The instructor presentations were informative and effective to promote student learning and participation. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	The breakout discussion groups were effective to encourage student learning and participation. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	The materials, breakouts, and class meetings helped together to develop analytical, scientific, critical, and creative thinking abilities in students. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	Would you like to add your own thoughts or elaborations to the answers given?	I learned a lot in this course. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	I spent an appropriate amount of time, and about the same as my classmates, in preparing or reviewing for each class. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	In each class, each unit of instruction and breakout required analytical, scientific, critical, and creative thinking. - Select between 1 (Strongly Disagree) to 5 (Strongly Agree)	Would you like to add your own thoughts or elaborations to the answers given?	What did you enjoy most?	What was the one thing you learned as a result of your participation?	If you could change one thing, what would it be?	Would you participate in this course if it were offered again? Why or why not?
5	4	4	5		4	5	5		meeting people around the world	EU has developed a sovereign legal system for protecting citizens	I wouldn't have taken this class as an upper-level writing class if I knew how much extra work was involved	If it was an elective focusing only on this class, I spent a ton of time on weekly assignments instead of my paper
5	5	5	5		5	4	5		I loved being in a class with a lot of people from different cultures	I realized how much I didn't know about our environment	Nothing	Yes, definitely, I learned a lot
4	5	5	5		5	4	5		I enjoyed most for two things that one was talking from people of around world about law in general and secondly that class studies were so interesting that so much to learn	World concludes problems for too much different that each other	I would do every lesson as the 8. week	I would. I did so much fun and I learnt too much
5	4	3	5		4	4	5		The group discussion on the most recent legal trends	Make comparison with other legal contexts	Nothing	Yes because I think it's interesting
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		break out rooms	Better communicate abilities	learn more about before reading	yes
5	5	5	5		5	4	4		speaking with international students about many different topics	improved to speak in English as it's not my mother language	maybe the schedule	yes
3	4	5	4		3	5	4		Chatting with my friends from different countries	Forcing myself to think from other's perspectives	I would make instructions to be more active in teaching process and maybe the breakout room times	I would participate again because it was very fun and made me learn
3	4	5	5		4	4	5		The conversations	Different cultural perspectives	The instructors could perhaps share their own educational mission at the end of each class	I would love to but I lack a lot of time and effort
4	4	5	5		5	5	5		Meeting people all around the world and their points of view	That we can live so far away from each other and still think similarly	nothing (to read :)	Yes, these really great and developing
4	5	5	4		4	3	4		The breakouts and interacting with other students	I learned a lot about other nations legal systems	Less prep, maybe more time in breakout rooms.	Absolutely
5	4	5	5		5	4	4		I enjoyed the breakout room the most and the topics about European human rights	I learned the most about the criminal law	Nothing	Yes
5	5	5	5		5	2	5		Breakout groups, being able to discuss about different subjects with students from all over the world. Everyone had different perspectives to add each time regarding what they knew from, it was really interesting	How differently our systems can be depending on where you live. Extremely interesting!	2-3 group members were 7-8 my group it's quite a bit. Sometimes we didn't have enough time to listen to everyone.	Yes of course, honestly to be able to discuss with students from the around the world's great.
5	4	4	4		3	4	4		Meeting people from different backgrounds and countries	We can have different point of views and still find a common ground	nothing	Yes, I like the organization of it. All together it was and there were find ourselves in a group with different people. We can share our
5	4	4	4		4	2	4		I enjoyed getting to meet with other students from all around the world	I learned about various perspectives of the law	provided guided questions for the breakout room would be helpful	Yes because I learned a lot about how other countries solve legal problems
5	4	4	5		5	3	5		The Breakout Rooms sessions	different perspectives on different subjects	again, breakout rooms time	Yes I loved the exchange of information from different cultures.
4	4	4	4		4	4	4		Meeting others from a diverse number of backgrounds and nationalities.	The difference between the civil and common law traditions, and nationalities.	the amount of work for the 2 credit hours received.	yes, but probably in a less stressful and fast semester.
5	5	5	5		4	4	5		The discussions in the breakout rooms. It was nice to see different perspectives about the exercises	Sometimes it was hard to hear things in the main Zoom room, but it might have been an issue only on my part.	Sometimes it was hard to hear things in the main Zoom room, but it might have been an issue only on my part.	Yes, definitely. It offered me a very unique view on different law systems that would be impossible otherwise.
4	3	4	3		3	3	4		Talking with students all around the globe and sharing our perspectives and views on different topics	I learned more about different countries problems and what their think of them	I can't think of anything off now	of course! it was a wonderful opportunity
5	4	4	4		5	5	5		The course work was overwhelming for a 2 credit hour course on top of the research paper. However, the class sessions were informative and unique. I would take this class again.	Discovering new legal systems and experiences of others from all over the world. It was my favorite experience so far in law school.	I have an advanced understanding of common law and civil law traditions.	The amount of pre-class work was a bit considering the high research paper due.
3	4	3	4		3	4	4		I would be useful if before distributing students to breakout rooms, the professors would introduce better the topic as some of them students have no knowledge about and would be easier to participate if students were given a real time presentation of the topic.	An introduction to all field of law that I have not yet studied at the university	Make the first part of the class an informative lecture of the topic	I would take this class and learning about the new cultures. I had my legal knowledge was expanded. My group members were wonderful and great to talk to.
4	2	5	5		5	5	4		I did hear that not all participants were prepared each week.	I have learned about the ways in which the United States and the European Union interact with each other and the ways they differ	Ensuring participation in readings and consistent attendance	I would take this course again, and I believe it provides valuable time discussing with other law students in various countries.
4	3	4	3		4	3	3		being together with people from different jurisdictions	regulation of a holiday	the time for exercises were sometimes inadequate	yes definitely would
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		I enjoyed connecting with other law students from around the world.	I learned that despite having different legal systems, sometimes the result of certain legal issues can be the same.	I would just make some of the videos on certain topics shorter.	I would participate in the course again because it was nice to meet other students.
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		Everything about the class.	About different countries and the laws	NA	Yes
4	3	5	4		4	3	5		I'm sorry, I accidentally put this answer into the first out field.	To discuss about law and politics with the different perspectives of the EU and US. I learned a lot about US perspectives and politics	Maybe more time in the breakout rooms, sometimes the time was not long enough to discuss everything	Yes, it was great meeting all these people and we talked about interesting things with interesting different systems
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		It was a great experience.	International communication.	More short classes than one long	Yes
5	2	1	1		1	1	1		This class was very much more than 2 credit hours.	How European legal systems differ from American	Make this class less time consuming	No
3	2	3	3		4	3	3		I enjoyed meeting people and having their perspectives	I learned how to follow along the different courts with the EU and how it is imperative to consider every member country's interests	I would change the manner in which the assignments and presented to us. There were times that it was great and clear, but other times our group had a difficult time following along	yes
5	2	1	1		2	2	2		The diversity of the group	It's hard to prepare only one thing, every class brought a new piece of knowledge	More time for the breakout groups	Yes I would, it broadened my knowledge on not law
4	2	3	4		3	3	3		The negotiations	How the system in the US works	Make the beginning easier to follow, we a board	yes, I think it is a nice way of understanding new system and how other law systems work on that perspective
5	4	4	4		5	4	5		discussing the breakout rooms about the cases and legislative ideas	Perspectives of different countries on criminal cases and legislative ideas	maybe breakout rooms would be more controlled so the professor would have more effective	yes because it was very fun and educational
4	4	4	3		2	2	2		The breakout rooms discussions	Negotiation	A better speech management	Yes I would! It is very interesting course and I learnt a lot
5	5	5	5		5	4	4		My group, group of 3 consisted of 3 amazing, smart and hilarious ladies and we became genuine friends.	That I can connect with people on ideas irrespective of our locations, nationality and beliefs.	I would make the videos a bit shorter because for non native speakers it is a bit long.	Yes, because I had meeting two people and this is a great opportunity to get others.
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		I love this class! This was so cool! I appreciate the materials being provided and not reading a book either. It was convenient to be able to meet other students around the world and ask them questions	I never knew how the governments were set up in other countries. It was one thing to google it but another to learn how it works and read from by talking with the students.	I loved it just the way it was! Being able to talk about multiple topics with other people was so cool!	Yes I loved being able to get other perspectives on topics
5	4	3	4		5	4	5		I really enjoyed the class exercises about AI.	It is challenging to not have a code to rely on when we are from our own countries	I would be more organized to do each the lectures and read the materials.	Yes definitely because I learned a lot and met new people coming from various countries.
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		I absolutely loved this program and am excited that I was able to be a part of it. Having the opportunity to meet law students from other countries and learn more about their legal systems and experiences was invaluable.	I loved being able to meet law students from other countries and learn more about their legal systems. It was interesting to see the similarities in the US but even more interesting to see all the differences.	I learned that EU countries have much stronger privacy laws than the US and protect their citizens' data in a way that the US doesn't. I learn in the US are not known in the EU because of these protections.	I would not change anything. I think the materials were interesting and informative, and the time was managed excellently and gave groups time to discuss of the exercises.
5	4	4	4		4	3	3		The general conversation	The idea of creating a global law is not impossible, even though there are many differences our main goal of creating a healthy global legal system is the same	this time was really short for such comprehensive topics	yes, I think it created really broad perspectives for our professors
5	4	5	5		4	4	4		Meeting new people!!	The number of assignments and the length of classes.	Yes, it was great meeting new people.	Yes, it was great meeting new people.
5	4	5	5		4	5	3		Improving my communications skills and learning about so many different subjects	How much uncertainty and danger there is in regulating AI	Better measurement of the time in the rooms needed for the	of course, it was an extremely interesting experience
4	4	4	4		4	4	4		Meeting new people from different countries and discuss about general topics	It was different perspectives	yes, because there is more to discuss	Yes, because there is more to discuss
5	4	3	5		4	3	4		everything	I learned a lot about American system and how it is different to the European	I would change the time because we spent so much time sometimes talking about the same topic	Yes, I would because it was an amazing opportunity to meet new people and learn my self, learn
4	5	5	5		5	5	4		exchange with the other students	different ways of thinking	In Portugal we should have been given a proper space to work specially that some we have classes at an 20min after the end	yes if there were different topics
5	5	5	5		4	5	5		For me, the most interesting classes were about AI	It was extremely interesting to get an insight into the judiciary of other countries	Not sure, because I'm not a law student and often felt like I couldn't contribute enough	Yes, I find it interesting and very inspiring to other systems of law
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		Honestly, everything about this course was fun and extremely interesting. This is one of the most practical and useful classes I've had the pleasure of being a part of!	I loved International Law already, and this class only increased that interest for me.	Nothing!	YES
5	5	5	5		5	5	5		By keeping the groups diverse I was able to become more educated on the different cultures to similar problems as well as unique challenges I had never considered.	The way the topics were presented really helped me understand the current issues facing everyone. The outside research we brought gave more ways to understand and not merely tryng. Sometimes a document is long to handle to grasp the concept.	I learned more about global warming and how specifically we affect people. It helped me understand what to expect in the future especially since we won't be talking the longed goals.	I think establishing groups quicker would be better. We kept changing at the beginning of the semester, and we lost like we needed to keep using introductions instead of starting with the assignments.
4	5	5	5		5	5	5		Meeting everyone and establishing that the legal communities worldwide are very friendly and welcoming.	There are many similarities between the countries and students that participated, and I was much easier to communicate that I thought I would.	The length of the preparation materials.	Yes but I do think it required more work than a 2 credit course offered

	5		5		5		3	4		4		Most other people who were really nice was the thing that engaged the most. I engaged in particular just the discussion and of topic about our habits in our country, so interesting to see all the differences between people over the world.	Improve my English thanks to read conversation instead of english's lectures	I don't know	Yes but only if we have the same theme as now because it will be so great to see those people again
4		5		5		I had a great time here and learned a lot from these classes.	5	5	5			An opportunity to talk with wonderful people from all over the world.	Justifying my point of view.	I wouldn't change a thing.	Of course, I would participate again to meet ambitious and interesting people.
3	4	4	4	4	4	I found the volume of preparatory materials a bit overwhelming, especially when balancing coursework from other classes. Additionally, while the lectures from professors were informative, they sometimes ran longer than expected, leaving less time for breakout room discussions. More structured time for interactive sessions would help improve our understanding and make the material more manageable in the future. I think maybe it would be great to have this class take a week (maybe even a semester) for 4 weeks instead of once a week for 6 weeks, because this class got very close to our final exam preparations.	4	1	4	Meeting new people and having good discussions with people who live in a different political environment.	The EU is much better than the US in regards to environmental and human rights policies rather than the US where it gives priority to businesses and corporations rather than actual people.	Having the class take a week for 4 weeks instead of once a week for 6 weeks.	Yes, I enjoyed the talking points and meeting new people :)
3	4	5	5	5			4	4	5	getting know about my group friends' knowledge and experiences and also brainstorming together	in all topics we covered so far, the most important parts were the ability to approach the matter from many perspectives and trying to enhance the potential legal applications based on what we have in our hands.	resources were a bit time consuming, I wish they were more concise	I would absolutely participate. I met a lot of nice and wonderful friends here who are interesting to talk. I don't think I will stop communicating with them. I would like to go again to establish such a relationship with my people.
5	4	5	5	5			4	4	5	It seemed that a number of students had prior knowledge that distracted from consistency in participation from them.	Break out sessions with students from other countries, cultures, and/or perspectives.	More to approach discussions of relevant law in an international setting.	Greater consistency in the volume of reading materials from week to week. Ensuring the international mix within groups.	Yes. But it would need to be a part of this course, not precisely the same course.
3	4	5	4	4	My group was fantastic and everyone participated, but I would understand if others do not feel as fond of this type of learning if their groups were not as active.		4	3	3	I enjoyed being able to interact with my group of students, especially the ones from Europe because we only get to interact with students from outside the US. My group was always productive and active, and I think that this class is very productive when you have that activity within the groups by the students.	I learned that even though the Countries of my classmates were all in the EU, the countries themselves had different laws and regulations that affected.	I wish there was a little bit more time to interact with the students in my group. Maybe have an introductory class that is shorter but allows the students to interact with each other to get more comfortable speaking over zoom.	I could not say for sure, especially as my law studies are progressing, but I did thoroughly enjoy my time in this course.
5	4	5	5	5			5	5	5	I enjoyed learning how different legal systems around the world work from students who actually are experiencing and learning about that legal system right now.	I learned how some international organizations solve problems and get to practice that with my humanities.	This was fixed in my group later on but I would just change the dynamic of each group but to make sure that each one represents how diverse the population of the large group is as a whole.	Yes, I would participate. I know of my school there are table to make a credit class and I would love for that to be offered to more students at my school.
4		5	5	5	I really like this type of class, it was new for me. As a French student, we are not prepared for real to see discussions like this between students so I found it very useful. This class pushed me out of my comfort zone and was also a great way to improve my skills, especially regarding my cultural adaptability and curiosity. I really enjoyed hearing different perspectives from students around the world. It was a reminder of how important it is to be open-minded especially for international law students.		4	4	4	Interacting with international students in a respectful way!	Be curious and open-minded	Maybe spending more time in small groups	Yes of course because it is an unique opportunity
4		4	4	4	Thank you for the experience :)		3	3	3	Learning other people's perspectives. Getting to know other students around the world.	The importance of negotiations, especially in the lawyers life.	Bigger breakout groups	Yes, because of the exchange of knowledge
5	5	5	5	5	Just the opportunity to connect with students and professors globally in the BEST time ever. This course is amazing like I hope's continue for students in the long term of the future!		5	5	5	Chadler's Common Law is fascinating, good response to understand other countries better.	I loved connecting with my group every week. I was lucky enough to make great friends out of this but I will miss it to teach with them. This was a great class.	There will be less chances to connect law through lecture perspectives and addressing different types of issues, legal effects and how each jurisdiction would handle it differently, and also getting to see the interaction with EU and international law/cooperation v. non-cooperation.	More participants from more countries! Keep expanding the program!	I DOBENOTWANT to participate in this again. The connections made and perspectives shared... absolutely invaluable. This was my favorite course this semester. I think I gotta connect with the real world and learn in an environment that's not just from the perspective of internal EU relations.
4	5	5	5	5			5	5	5	the opportunity to talk to students from all over the world about such diverse issues and to practice legal English	to listen to people, to not interrupt	add some more topics of the lectures, more time on case studies.	of course yes
5	5	5	5	5	It was a perfect experience and new great contacts. Thanks		5	5	5	Openness and friendly communication	We live in the global time and should search new possibilities to talk international classes	Everything was perfect, thanks	Yes, it helps to spread our Message
5	5	5	5	5			4	4	5	It was like an online exam		maybe groups could rotate between to meet and work with more people	I would participate again it was enjoyable and informative
5	5	5	5	5			4	4	4	people	to better understand the differences between legal systems around the world	for people to take better care of our environment	yes, because it was a great experience
2	3	3	2		There were too many materials that were not used in the actual in-class assignments. I am more than fine with a lot of reading, but when none of it is applicable, that makes me feel as though I wasted my time. There was a 70-page reading during Criminal Law week that was incredible which gave me lots of resources for me to be active in the readings in the weeks following. I do love meeting with my group. We're preparing every class, etc. We were the conversationists responsible, absolutely. I really liked my group, and I think they will go on to have successful careers.		2	1	3	I do not believe that the other members, not only in my group, but in the program spent as much time on the class assignments that I am. Being from an American school, it is proved upon us to make sure that all the readings get done, plus, that I am from the European way. Which is fine, but do not expect them to change for my class. Overall I believe that the course was fun, but part in how well we made the classes more of a learning moment. The lectures are enough to get through. As I am not used to long lectures with no interaction, if I had my a full...	I enjoyed my group. They were all wonderful and I believe that they will be extremely successful.	That not everyone will be as prepared as you. Lecture based classes are not my cup of tea.	The experience and the positiveness of the reading. Do not assign readings that have nothing to do with the assignments.	Yes, but with conditions. I have expressed earlier in my survey of my concerns about the program and I'd like to try them.
3	3	5	4		It was really fun and a great experience :)		3	4	5	The international exchange	to learn and appreciate international exchange	maybe add some more perspectives in the mix	of course
4	3	5	5	5	Especially the content we did in the last lesson was very engaging. I wish I could continue.		5	5	5	the last course	different perspective of laws	I really want to thank you for all the professors	of course, it was really pleasant to have this international subject, even more since it allowed us to discover new people and their legal system
3	3	5	4				3	4	5	discovering new legal system and being able to have interesting discussion with international students!!		maybe the teaching methods because even though the videos were amazing but I was really glad that I later videos and copy points the slides
5	5	5	5	5			4	4	5	Being able to talk to law students or people practicing law from different regions of the world. Also getting in contact with professors from other countries enabled me to understand how law is perceived and practiced in other countries.	that the law systems around the world may have different approaches to the same problem	not anything specific in mind	yes, it allowed me to connect with lovely law students all around the world and have fruitful discussions
2	2	5	5	5	I would have liked more clear pre-recorded lectures to understand the materials. They were poor quality and hard to understand at times. Overall, I loved this course.		5	5	5	I enjoyed learning about the jurisdictions of other countries and hearing my team member's thoughts on getting global issues.	Collaboration.	Better quality pre-recorded lectures	Yes.
5	5	5	5	5			5	5	5	the negotiation exercise was the best part. I was fun and super engaging, but overall, I enjoyed the breakout sessions throughout the classes.	that other countries find the american system interesting and slow, but I also learned that I am generally good at making others feel comfortable to "give" and keep them engaged in conversation.	not enough time to discuss several issues... perhaps the breakout sessions could focus on 2 main questions and discuss that. Some of the assignments had too many questions and I just wanted enough time to allow people to talk about them.	I would. I learned a lot about other systems and a lot about my own system in the process.
3	3	5	3				3	3		I enjoyed that each class had breakout rooms with the same people. I think it would be nice to have ongoing conversations	I learned some comparative law and comparative policy	I wish every instructor had powerpoints that were available before class and interactive multiple-choice questions during the class.	Yes, I think this is an interesting way interact with people significantly would not cross paths with
3	4	3	3	3	I liked the book questions, I didn't feel like I got anything out of it. It felt like busy work. A list of our discussions were positive and honest, but at times, the topics were in areas that just weren't familiar with.		4	4	3	If number 2 is referring to our breakout rooms then I, but if it's referring to other LPA students, I'm not certain other students prepared as much as myself and my group did.	I made new friends! I also generally love talking about things to people of other backgrounds.	For LPA specifically, this should not be an upper-level writing class. There is already enough work prep/prop for the course. Having the paper as well took away from class prep and also notes. This course was also not described well. Many LPA students had this that this would be a global classroom with break out room discussions. I was aware of this from talking with Dean Field. I also love talking in general, so I took no issue with it. I know some of my fellow LPA students do not have this same level of comfort with having discussions.	yes, so long as it doesn't distract the upper level writing component
4	5	5	5	5	It was great to have such an experience. It contributed greatly not only to education but also to personal development.		5	5	5	The breakout rooms were extremely eye opening and gave us all a diverse perspective on the different cultural practices of law. We all collectively realized that the laws are the same no matter what country we are in and it was awesome to learn from our classmates around the world. Some of the lectures could have been shortened, and not read verbatim from the in-class materials.	Meeting new people, sharing our experiences and being in international interaction was the most important part.	Even though I am not a law student, I learned a lot.	It would have been better if it had been a more comprehensive program and we had more time to comment on the topics.	I would definitely like to participate. Thanks to this program, we were able to discuss many topics and share our ideas. I was so excited to have such an experience.
5	3	5	5	5			4	4	4	Meeting with my fellow students in the breakout rooms and learning from them about their legal systems that hard.	A unique perspective on international law from law students.	Some of the videos could have been shortened.	Yes, absolutely.
2	2	5	4		Instructor presentations varied in quality greatly. Some were great while others didn't promote the beauty of the topic. Another aspect, I think, is the time spent in groups because the topics were sometimes too much and sometimes there wasn't enough time.		4	1	3	Comparisons between local legal systems, especially on topics like human and personal rights.	That I lack specific vocabulary and terms in law	Microphone quality and some topics were a bit off the main theme	Yes, for the international exchange and creating thinking training

5	5	5	5	At least in Lisbon there were not enough information about the program and some of the documents weren't hand. Also at the time the pre course materials weren't accessible. Besides that everyone was very nice and respectful. Thanks you!	3	4	3	The fact it was on zoom allowed me to participate every class	About the clash between climate change actions and poverty and Massimo's Triangle	The access to the materials	Yes, interesting subjects and nice people
5	5	5	5	that was an amazing experience thanks for this opportunity	5	5	5	the last week registration is very fun and informative	discuss with people who has different backgrounds actually make me to look at it a very different way to the legal problems, besides the materials that provided us was informative.	I have no idea	yes i actually make good friends in here
5	5	5	5		5	5	5	The people	same	not exactly consider the difficult	probably yes but with chances
4	3	5	5	I really loved participating in this program over the course of the semester. I've loved getting so many different perspectives every week on the various topics covered. I think some of the readings and videos were a little intense in the sense that there was a lot to listen, but nothing was uninteresting to me. Especially loved the 4 sessions! Thank you for having this and holding space for these discussions!	5	5	5	I loved the AI discussion in particular! I found that to be the most engaging discussion.	I learned a lot about the regulations of the various EU member countries represented in our group! I found it interesting to get a more hands-on insight into the civil law side of the world.	I would maybe suggest less time with the introductions by professors and more time to discuss in groups. At least in my group, it felt like we needed some time to have struct talk before getting into the problems for the week.	If I wasn't graduating, I definitely would! I would love to discuss more with everyone on any topics brought up. It'd love to have these sorts of discussion again!
5	5	5	5	This course was really interesting and topics that was discussed were fascinating!	5	5	5	Everything was amazing	Difference not only at legal aspects but also understanding in that legal aspect	Ohm, I think that duration was a little bit short	Yes, definitely yes
5	4	5	5		4	4	5	Breakout room parts were the best. I had learned a lot from my friends. Being with the same people every week is such a great experience to bond if you have a good one.	US law system is way more different than Europe's	everything was great	yes i would
4	4	4	5	2 weaknesses, 2 positives. Weaknesses: 1. Not all students are enrolled in the course as a course itself, but they are taking it in addition to their other course. With this said, the timing was a little heavy on some days. Another weakness that is not really controllable is attendance. The two positives, 1. I absolutely loved being able to connect with others, in real time, who are thousands of miles away. These global connections are extremely important in allowing us to understand our own perspectives. 2. The topics discussed were relevant and were important topics to address!	3	4	3	I enjoyed the various perspectives of those from other parts of the world!	Although on the surface many laws or situations are different between our countries, there are many shared experiences amongst us all!	Ensure the class is a course in the school they're operating in order to drive up attendance and ensure materials is being assigned. When material isn't reviewed it makes the discussions difficult to have. If not this, combining groups with 4 or less people would allow for more diverse conversations.	Yes! I did love the experience. I would have liked more consistent engagement. Nonetheless, I really enjoyed the experience I did receive.
5	4	5	5		5	4	5	When I got spoke	How different legal systems work and how we can still always find similarities between them.	Maybe that the members in our group didn't have the same amount of time to speak.	Yes! I think it was more educative than most of my classes.
4	3	5	5		5	5	4	Talking with the involved people about very interesting topics	I learned new informations regarding topics and new vocabularies	Less reading material maybe	yes, because it is very interesting and you get to meet new people
5	5	5	5		5	4	4	I enjoyed getting to know other students from different cultures. I had a great time speaking with and learning from them in each breakout session.	I learned that it is crucial to have meaningful conversations with others with different backgrounds.	To not call on the groups after each breakout session to give an answer or overview of their discussions.	Yes, so long as it was no more than 2 credits. I learned a lot and enjoyed that I was able to work. I think this class would be overwhelming or would not be as enjoyable if it was more than once a week.
4	5	5	4	Had a lot of fun and even though I had some technical problems in the last class, my group always balanced things out so it was quite the experience	4	4	4	Sometimes the answers were obvious so that you would all be done really fast	The people	The LIS is actually pretty alone with a bit, especially how that law works	When I was asked if I wanted to participate at least good knowledge of the language was needed to be accepted, this seemed to be a specific requirement of my uni sometimes we'd be stuck because of literal language barriers where basic english would solve the problems... so to sum it up, a basic knowledge of the english language should be a requirement	Yes because it was still great fun when you found a way to jump the language barriers
3	2	3	2	I believe this online course was a great way to encourage international communication and build an international understanding. As a learning outcome, I believe the each session covered a little too high. I think one might hope per week and a longer more detailed introduction of the topic at hand would have been more beneficial. E.g. our group often found themselves confused in the breakout rooms which of the readings we are supposed to be discussing, a little more guidance would be needed. Personally, I sometimes had a little overwhelmed with how much was covered each session. I of course took away many things, but I can't help but confidence that at a bit each with me. I think for the next cycle it needs to be observed that this is a full course which requires a bit of preparation outside of the zoom meetings. Having said that, I really enjoyed the course and found some great friends along the way. I never studied this intensively and has been very enlightening to have listened to opinions and knowledge from across the globe.	4	3	2	I am working full time at the moment (work placement) and for most sessions I was at my work absent, so it was a little tricky for me to prepare as much as students who are actually at uni right now. I underestimated the amount preparing I had to do.	The interaction between my group and slowly getting to know each other after each session was a benefit. Had the only with the last two sessions we truly came together as a team.	Deep back, listen and communicate clearly, be precise.	Larger sessions or less content, more guidance from the professors throughout the sessions (e.g. longer intro, less in an agenda so everyone knows where we are, overview of the sessions with time estimates etc.)	If I wasn't working yes, but not at the moment as it needs a lot of practice preparation for each session to get a good discussion in the groups going.
